

examination he included in the part of his work named “Duties of the Individual to Himself”. He mentioned that “Man, as an individual, stands in relation to himself. He has two aspects: his individuality and his universal essence. His Duty to Himself consists partly in his duty to care for his physical preservation, partly in his duty to educate himself, to elevate his being as an individual into conformity with his universal nature.” According to his opinion, caring himself for his physical development is also a concept of education. Furthermore, there is another concept of education in his work that if we follow to this theory, we can find out what does it mean.

Culture is the sum of total of the learned behavior of a group of people that are generally considered to be the tradition of that people and are transmitted from generation to generation. It is of course first meaning of this word and we can say it is notion. But when we analyze other sides of this words like:

- Culture is the systems of knowledge shared by a relatively large group of people.
- Culture is communication, communication is culture.
- Culture is a collective programming of the mind that distinguishes the members of one group or category of people from another.
- Culture consists of patterns, explicit and implicit, of and for behavior acquired and transmitted by symbols, constituting the distinctive achievement of human groups, including their embodiments in artifacts
- Culture is historical buildings and we can observe some famous monument by architecture which make us remember past. These are some examples of concept of the notion “Culture”

There are also many researches on this sphere, culture by many scientists who showed different meaning of the word “Culture” in one word, concept of this word.

“Man is, on the one hand, a natural being. ... Secondly, he is ... rational being ... The animal stands in no need of education, for it is by nature what it ought to be. ... But man has the task of bringing into harmony his two sides, of making his individuality conform to his rational side or of making the latter become his guiding principle.” In this written extract, we can see the notion of education in close connection with two other sides of human community: culture and human’s freedom. Of course, we differ from all kind of animals with our knowledge, notion, thinking, lifestyle and others. People said that, human is unique with its education among all being in our nature.

If we learn culture and education together, Hegel give his opinion by following way “Education is the formation of the spiritual culture of personality, that is, the formation of the supremacy of reason over the disposition of men”. According to his opinion, education and culture go together in our life and we can not learn them separately.

Following to this opinion, we can pay attention to proverbs which tell about culture and education. They merge every time without any hesitation although they do not come together in every proverb.

- Never stop learning, because life never stops teaching
- With great learning, a horse, and money, you may travel the world
- Knowledge is power
- Education is learning a lot about how little you know

Paying attention to the first proverb, it is like advice and in this proverb we can identify that life forces us to continue learning because everything is developing and changing like: culture, lifestyle, and it is known that life depends on our culture. Next proverb is also connected with world and by travelling around the world; you can identify new sides of life, different culture. But if we want to travel around the world, we should learn everything about different culture: their lifestyle, tradition, history and etc.

Now time is learning proverb on culture:

- Understanding languages and other cultures builds bridges.
- A people without the knowledge of their past history, origin and culture is like a tree without roots.
- A nation's culture resides in the hearts and in the soul of its people.
- A man without culture is like a zebra without stripes.

Proverbs which mentioned above describe the relationship between culture and education. Following first proverb, we can our opinion which told before about their existence by coming together. If we learn other language, we can learn also its culture and it is opportunity to go their country. Second proverb is also about knowledge but there is also connection with culture and its history. If people do not know their history and culture as well as their ancestors, they live without understanding their purpose. How can we set goals to achieve our willing without understanding what we want? Of course, learning history, lifestyle of our ancestors, their aims we can continue their work.

After analyzing the relationship of education and culture, we can come to conclude that they merge each other in real life. We tried to learn their attitude to each other and it is visible to us that they are connected.
